Not only did the year 2023 present us with significant challenges, but it also demonstrated that by having strong political determination and coming together as a group, we can accomplish what once seemed impossible.

We will announce the winners of the 2023 award at the high-level ceremony. This year, the prize is dedicated to impactful policy solutions that address a pollution free world, regulating the use of hazardous chemicals in products, with a focus on children and their environment.

At the ceremony, we cordially greet distinguished international experts and high-level guests from around the world. The award recipients will receive Future Policy Awards across four categories.

Master of Ceremonies: Youth:Present representatives, Bea Albermann and Jeffrey Opoku, World Future Council

Speakers on stage include:

- UNEP Executive Director Inger Andersen (invited)
- Chairwoman of the World Future Council's Management Board Alexandra Wandel
- UN Assistant Secretary-General, Executive Director of UNITAR Nikhil Seth
- Executive Secretary of Minamata Convention on Mercury Monika Stankiewicz
- Executive Secretary, Basel, Rotterdam and Stockholm Convention Rolph Payet
- Ministers and State Secretaries or Ambassadors from the Award winners

About the World Future Council

The World Future Council envisions a healthy planet with just and peaceful societies – now and in the future. To achieve this, we identify, develop, highlight, and spread future-just solutions for current challenges humanity is facing and award them with our unique Future Policy Award. Our Council consists of 50 eminent global changemakers from civil society, science, politics, and business. They meet annually at the World Future Forum to discuss the most urgent challenges and policy solutions to them. Jakob von Uexkull, the Founder of the Alternative Nobel Prize, launched the World Future Council in 2007.

This project was funded by the Federal Environment Agency and the Federal Ministry for the Environment, Nature Conservation, Nuclear Safety and Consumer Protection. The funds are made available by resolution of the German Bundestag. With the kind support of the Michael Otto Foundation.
