

Season's Greetings

from all at the World Future Council

We send you our warm greetings!

Dear friends,

The year is drawing to a close. Even though it was a very challenging year, we can look back on some positive developments in various areas.

We have been able to make a significant contribution to improving the protection of the oceans. We have also made remarkable progress in the area of climate protection. We have successfully developed detailed roadmaps to drive forward the expansion of renewable energies in countries such as Nepal, Vietnam and Uganda. Our conviction that working for a better world for future generations is of fundamental importance manifested itself in our commitment to giving young people a voice. One of the ways we achieved this was by integrating their perspectives into our podcast "The Good Council". Here they were able to share their thoughts and ideas on important topics and thus contribute to an intergenerational dialogue.

Only with your support can we maintain our work for future generations.

We kindly ask you to support us and make a donation to the WFC in 2023.

Thank you very much for your great support this year!

We are grateful for your commitment and wish you a peaceful and healthy New Year 2024.

Improved protection of the oceans

After ambitiously advocating for the protection of 30 percent of oceans by 2030, we successfully campaigned for the new high seas agreement. The agreement creates a legal framework for the establishment of marine protected areas to protect against the disappearance of species.

Future Policy Award 2023: For a toxic-free world

It was one of our absolute highlights of the year! The Future Policy Award 2023 honoured the best policy solutions that protect people, especially children, and the environment from hazardous chemicals in products and work towards a toxic-free world. The award ceremony took place during the fifth International Conference on Chemicals Management in Bonn.

Renewable Energy Roadmaps

For the last year, we have worked together with partners to achieve a inclusive and just energy transition. In Nepal, Uganda and Vietnam, local project partners gathered diverse stakeholders into multi actor partnerships to ensure that the energy transition pathway benefits the whole of society. Through knowledge sharing workshops and with expert-designed modelling technologies, barriers and opportunities were identified. Each country developed 100% renewable energy scenarios to highlight their own unique transition pathways and a policy road map that will help to guide policy makers in the future.

The Good Council Podcast: Season 3

This year, we have launched the third season of our podcast "The Good Council", which is fully dedicated to the rights of future generations. You can look forward to captivating content and inspiring stories presented by outstanding personalities. It is particularly important to us to create a space that promotes intergenerational dialogue through the chosen discussion dynamics. Stay tuned!

Legal Alternatives to War: Law not War

Collaborating with the World Federalist Movement, Citizens for Global Solutions, World Future Council, and various organizations in New York, UNFOLD ZERO initiated the campaign "Legal Alternatives to War (LAW not War)" on October 23. The primary objective of this global initiative is to enhance the International Court of Justice (ICJ) to facilitate the peaceful resolution of international disputes, thereby discouraging the utilization of force.
